BAG MESS OF SNAKES Rattler Hunters Go to Connecticut on Annual Trip.

MUST BE BITTEN FOR DRINK

Four Make a Mess, but This Time Nine Are Captured-Something of the Rules of the Game-First You Climb Out a Car Window and Then Beat It for the Berkshire Hills.

New York, May 24 .- All the snake hunters from Bridgeport, Stratford, and Kent, Conn., many war corespondents from the New York papers, plus the camera squad; Rattlesnake Pete (nee Peter Grauber), of Rochester; Oliver Herford and Lindsay Denison, the prominent word painters, and Capt. Paul Boynton, the man that can walk on his hands on the water, went up to Kent, in Northwestern Connecticut, to-day to get their annual mess of rattlesnakes.

Four good-sized rattlesnakes make a mess, as everybody knows, although three may be called a mess, especially if pieced out with pickerel or eels.

Wherefore the Schaghticoke Rattlesnake Club-that's the name of the organization-was more than pleased to-day when the hunters bagged nine snakes.

Mr. Denison, the magazine writer, caught the first snake, which up and bit Shang Wheeler, the club's curator, on the right hand before it was completely bagged. 112 Shang Wheeler had been entirely cured of the bite, however, an hour before he received it, and he wasn't much more than scratched anyway. So he didn't pass out as the sun went down on the Berkshires this evening, but gave his time to playing penny-ante in the smoker headed for Bridgeport instead.

This Is a Real Club.

If you're a snakeist you know all about the Schaghticoke Snake Club, that goes up to the Indian reservation every year, on the banks of the Housatonic River. for rattlers. They always go up on a Sunday, because the only way to get a drink in Connecticut on Snuday is to get bitten for it. It's a rule of the game that no snake must be smashed on the prow with a cobblestone. You must fasten him to Litchfield County with a forked stick, and then pick him up alive and drop him into a bag that Shang Wheeler carries. There is no rule about where you choose to pick the snake up.

You start toward the Berkshires, then, from Bridgeport, early Sunday morning in a special car, and then the run to

At South Kent, you climb out of a car window and get astride of any of the farm horses hitched to the several buckboards and carryalls in waiting. you say geet-ah, and everybody goes some place else. All is brightness now as you drive for miles along the Housatonic to the reservation.

Plenty of Beer, Too. At the reservation the hunters found a feast spread for them, which included clam chewder, boiled potatoes, and corn, with plenty of beer on the side. Rattlesnake Pete, who runs a saloon with a rattlesnake museum attached, in Mill street, Rochester, and who wears a $600 suit of rattlesnake clothes, cravat, 106 shoes, stickpin, designed from snake fangs, and a belt of snakeskin that hides his waistcoat, was the center of attrac-08 tion. Pete was sad because he couldn't bring along a hunter almost as mighty as he, one Jed Cooper, of Milford, Pike every wear. So often has Jed been bitten, Pete says, that now he sheds his skin every year, and during the months of July and Au-

When the hunters began the climb right straight up the Lump to get back to gather the rattlesnakes, Chief George Coggswell in the lead, a snake was gathered up, but it proved to be a garter snake and didn't count. The hunters, however, were not long in coming upon a rattler. He was speedily bagged, and eight more were gathered in before the hunt was over.

READY FOR TOURNEY.

Play in the Middle Atlantic States tennis tournament will be started at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon on the courts of the Bachelors' Club, at 1734 M street. A large entry list has been filed, and it is expected that more will be received before the entries close. A number of prominent players will compete, including
